Questions 41-43

Questions 41-43 refer to the following conversation.

(Man) Jane, do you think you could take out a group of new divers on Wednesday?

(Woman) Wednesday? I'm afraid I can't – I'm already booked to take a group of tourists on a boat trip around the island.

(Man) That's a problem. Dave is sick and we don't have any other experienced dive instructors that can go with them. They have already paid and they are leaving the island the following day.

(Woman) Well, why don't you ask Roger? He's just got back and I know he's free this week.

Questions 44-46

Questions 44-46 refer to the following conversation.

(Man) So, now that you've tried their food, what do you think of the new catering company?

(Woman) They are certainly a lot better than the last company we used. I really liked their salads – very healthy and a great selection.

(Man) Did you get any feedback from the other people who attended the event?

(Woman) Well, most of them seemed to enjoy the food. They ate most of it – the caterers ran out of the salmon. But I don't think the curry was very popular. The people who had it said it was very spicy, which probably isn't very suitable for a working lunch.

Questions 47-49

Questions 47-49 refer to the following conversation.

(Man) Excuse me, I want to return these. They're no good.

(Woman) Ah, a pair of designer jeans. What is the problem with them?

(Man) They're really tight. I know it's the fashion right now, but they're really uncomfortable. I want a looser pair of jeans.

(Woman) The problem is that you have worn the jeans and taken all the labels off.

(Man) Yeah, I wore them out once. That's how I discovered the problem.

(Woman) I'm sorry but you can't return items that have been worn. There's no way we can re-sell these to another customer, and there was nothing actually wrong with them.

Questions 50-52

Questions 50-52 refer to the following conversation.

(Woman) You must have had an amazing time, hiking in Nepal. The mountains look amazing on TV, and the program I saw said that this is the best time of year to visit.

(Man) I didn't have such a great time actually. I'm quite glad to be back home, to be honest.

(Woman) But surely it's one of the most beautiful places on Earth. What happened? Did you get food poisoning or something?

(Man) No, the food was fine, but I went up the mountain too quickly, so I got altitude sickness and had to spend most of the trip lying down.

T.4.054

Question 50

What did the woman learn about Nepal from the TV?

T.4.055

Question 51

How does the man feel?

T.4.056

Question 52

Why did he have a problem?

T.4.057

Questions 53-55

Questions 53-55 refer to the following conversation.

(Man) Have you thought about applying for this one?

(Woman) The pay isn't very good, and it doesn't say what the working hours are.

(Man) Yes, but it's a great chance to work overseas. You've always wanted to go to the Far East, and they pay for your flight and your accommodation. You could learn Chinese while you are there.

(Woman) That's true. It would be interesting. But I don't think I want to leave everyone behind for such a long time. I'd rather just go there on vacation.

T.4.058

Question 53

What are the speakers doing?

T.4.059

Question 54

What can be inferred about the speakers' relationship?

T.4.060

Question 55

What does the woman want to do?

T.4.061

Questions 56-58

Questions 56-58 refer to the following conversation.

(Woman) So how long have been you studying here? I haven't seen you around before.

(Man) I've been here six weeks so far. I'm an exchange student and I'm going to be here for a year.

(Woman) That must be a really interesting experience. How is it different to university in your country?

(Man) I'm really enjoying the life here - the food, the people, the social life. As a student, you get a lot more freedom to research your own area of interest. The only problem is the writing. I have a lot of papers to write and English is not my first language, so they take me a long time.

T.4.062

Question 56

How long has the man been at the university?

T.4.063

Question 57

What can we infer about the woman?

T.4.064

Question 58

What is the man's problem?

T.4.065

Questions 59-61

Questions 59-61 refer to the following conversation.

(Woman) Did you hear Mike and Mei Mei's big news?

(Man) What, are they finally getting married? They've been together for years.

(Woman) Yes, they are officially engaged, but they haven't set a date yet. They want to have the wedding sometime next year, but it's quite complicated because their families are in different countries.

(Man) Oh, so are they going to have the wedding back in Australia with Mike's family?

(Woman) No, because Mei Mei's father is not well enough to travel. I think they are going to have the wedding here with all of Mike's family flying over, and then they are going to go on honeymoon to Australia. But that's not definite.

T.4.066

Question 59

What have Mike and Mei Mei just done?

T.4.067

Question 60

What is their plan?

T.4.068

Question 61

Which statement is true?

T.4.069

Questions 62-64

Questions 62-64 refer to the following conversation.

(Man) I'm planning a business trip to Singapore next month. I heard you recently flew there with Royal Airlines. How was it?

(Woman) I have to say, I was really impressed. They had a great selection of movies, the cabin crew were really friendly and they have a new type of seat which gives you more room.

(Man) How about the food? Were the meals good?

(Woman) Very nice – they have a selection of Western and Asian dishes. The only downside is the price. It costs about 25% more than to fly with Easy Air.

(Man) I know. That's why I'm having trouble deciding which one to take.

T.4.070

Question 62

What does the man want?

T.4.071

Question 63

What does the woman say about her experience?

T.4.072

Question 64

What is the advantage of Easy Air?

T.4.073

Questions 65-67

Questions 65-67 refer to the following conversation.

(Woman) This is the vacuum cleaner. It started making a funny noise and then it stopped working. Do you think you'll be able to fix it?

(Man) Sure, no problem. That happens a lot with this model. I have to order the parts first which we'll get on Wednesday, so it won't be ready until Thursday.

(Woman) Oh, I'll be away then. I won't be back until Saturday. Can you hang on to it until then?

(Man) That'll be fine. My brother runs the shop on Saturdays, so I'll write you a note so he knows which machine is yours.

T.4.074

Question 65

Who most likely is the man?

T.4.075

Question 66

What is scheduled to happen on Wednesday?

T.4.076

Question 67

Why does the man need to write a note?

T.4.077

Questions 68-70

Questions 68-70 refer to the following conversation.

(Man) Mary, you know I'm flying out on Thursday. Could you give me a lift to the airport?

(Woman) I'd love to. What time do you need to be there?

(Man) The flight's at seven. It takes about one hour to get there. I need to check in two hours early, so I need to leave here at around 4 a.m.

(Woman) Four – in the morning! I can't possibly get up that early. I don't mind taking you the night before if you want to stay at the airport hotel, or I could book you a cab. I think the hotel will actually be cheaper.

(Man) OK, let's go up Wednesday night. I'll buy you dinner when we get there.

T.4.078

Question 68

What does the man ask the woman to do?

T.4.079

Question 69

At what time does the man need help?
